Chesterfield Women Accidentally Shot

Mrs. C. Jim Sellers, wife of Deputy Sheriff C. Jim Sellers of this county, was accidentally shot Saturday morning while eating breakfast.

Deputy Sellers had been out early in the morning giving chase to a thief and had two guns in his hip pockets. When he sat down at the breakfast table one of the guns fell on the floor and went off, the bullet striking Mrs. Sellers just above the knee and penetrating the thigh. The bone was untouched.

Chesterfield County Fair

In speaking of the Fair the State says in its issue of the 18th: Boll weevils, short cotton crops and the daily routine of just plain life were all laid aside here this week for the tenth annual county fair.

The fair had a sendoff with some zest to it Tuesday morning, with all the schools in the county giving holidays for the occasion. A greater crowd attended that day than ever before on an opening day.

One of the largest drawing cards was the poultry exhibit. All entries were open to "the world." Rhode Island Reds were the largest factor in the show. Exhibits were here from seven states. Judge W. H. Card, secretary of the Rhode Island Red Association of America, hung the ribbons. Parnell Meehan, local breeder, won first cockerel and pullet. W. T. Brooker, Jr., of Columbia won first pen and also the huge loving cup for that exhibit. A turkey banquet was held by the Chesterfield County Poultry association. About 150 members and guests were present. After the banquet short speeches were heard from B. E. Adams of Charleston, Judge W. H. Card of Manchester, Conn., and Miss Neely, state demonstration agent. All the speakers congratulated the fair association on having such a fine exhibit of birds at a county fair.

The feature of the swine department was the exhibit of V. E. Kohn of Prosperity. Mr. Kohn's exhibit won eight first prizes and four second prizes.

The cattle department had some of the finest exhibits that have been seen in this part of the state. Guernseys and Jerseys were the leading classes.

The home demonstration department and the boys' and girls' club department were feature exhibits in farm work. These departments under Miss Mary C. Haynie, home demonstration agent, have made more progress than any other county.

In all, the fair was one of the greatest county fairs ever held in this section of the state.
